

Crossword

Across

- Opponents to trapping often claim ____ to animals as well as irresponsibility of trappers.
- Part of a trap that holds the animal in place.
- ____ stock is the portion of the wildlife population that the habitat can support.
- Traps designed to catch the animal about the neck or the chest. Kills the animal quickly.
- Resources like animals that are usually in good supply and can be replenished in a short time.
- The part of a trap that holds the pan so the trap will not spring.
- An early form of trap used to capture animals. Other include deadfalls and snares.
- The number of foxes a professional trapper might expect to catch out of twenty traps set.
- Most trappers are _____, following the law, courteous to land owners, setting traps selectively and minimizing the time an animal is held.
- Respect for oneself, land owners, other people and the animals being trapped; includes responsibility.
- Gloves, dirt sifter, bait jar, lure, traps, pan covers, stakes, digging tool, hatchet, pliers are all examples of this.
- ____ stock is the portion of the wildlife population that the habitat cannot support.
- Fastest of the foothold traps.

Down

- Popular animal that is trapped in the Mid-west. Wears a "mask" on its face.
- Type of trap that prevents a muskrat or a mink from escaping. Available in many styles.
- The most compact type of trap, therefore, the easiest to conceal. Tends to be stronger than other traps.
- Conservation _____ are designed to ensure a continuing population of furbearers by regulating trappers.
- Another name for animals that are legally trapped. Named for their "coats".
- By law a trapper must check his traps at least once every ____ hours.
- Traps used in areas where the danger of taking domestic animals is high. This type of trap does not kill the animal.
- Any resource that exists in an inadequate amount is called a ____ factor. Water and oxygen are often common.
- Traps placed here kill animals quickly and humanely. These traps also protect domestic pets and animals.
- What a trapper should get from a land owner before trapping on his/her property.
- What a person says when confronting a skunk in a trap.
- All human directly or indirectly contribute to the _____ of animal life through disease and insect control, fertilizer production, and habitat destruction.